Chapters Twelve and Thirteen

Standards: FCRF: Figurative Language

One of the most captivating aspects of good literature is the use of figurative language, or ideas communicated beyond their literal meaning to create an image in the reader's or audience's mind. There are several types of figurative language, also called figures of speech. For this exercise, you will use the following figures of speech:

- metaphor-a comparison, based upon similarity or resemblance, of two or more objects: "The pillow was a cloud." Metaphors can also be more complex: "His realm was his throne and his remote, his scepter; with these he ruled his kingdom."
- simile-a comparison made between two unlike objects, using the words "like" or "as" in the comparison: "The pillow was like a marshmallow."
- personification-giving human qualities or characteristics to non-human objects: "The wind sang its sad song."
- hyperbole-greatly exaggerating something for emphasis: "I died when I saw my test score."

Directions: Read each quote from Chapters 12 and 13. Look at the underlined figure of speech in the sentence, then decide what type of figure of speech is being used. Finally, analyze the comparison being made, the object being personified or exaggerated, or the image being created by explaining the meaning of the figure of speech. An example has been done for you.

Ex. "The Governor was eager to scrape a few barnacles off the ship of state..."

Analysis: Lee compares the business of the government to barnacles attaching themselves to a ship; in this case, the "ship" is the state of Alabama. In other words, the government has some important business that needs to be taken care of.

1. "She had put so much starch in my dress it came up like a tent when I sat down."

Analysis: _____

2. "The church was becoming stuffy, and it occurred to me that Reverend Sykes intended to prout the amount out of his face."

Analysis: _____

3. "Calpurnia, in her navy blue dress and hub of a hog, walked between Jem and me."

Analysis: _____
